How can Penn, in particular,
and universities, in general,
best fulfill their crucial intellectual and societal missions?

The Teach-In includes 5 days of events organized by the Penn Faculty Senate. The purpose of Penn's first Teach-In in 50 years is to engage faculty, students, staff and the community in discussions regarding topics important to the future of the academy and our society.

Topics will be diverse and examine complex issues such as artificial intelligence, firearm violence, vaccine denial, race, evolution, bioethics and immigration, just to name a few.

On behalf of Penn's 12 schools, their faculty, students and staff, we hope that you will be a part of this historic event to help shape our collective views on how these topics will impact our society.

Events are free and open to the public at all locations.
